

Stagecoaches West!

Step aboard at the Library Community Room in Quincy on Thursday, October 26 for a special presentation on stagecoaches, their construction and how they helped to tame the Wild West in the 1800s. This free presentation will also include how the “Knights of the Whip” (stage drivers) learned to handle up to six ribbons (reins) at once to control their teams of horses. Special impersonations of local stage driver William “Bull” Meek, Butte County female driver Amy Morrison, and the infamous Sadie Orchard will be given as well by Lee Dummel and Mary Shaefer.

Don't miss this free, entertaining and informative presentation.
